Q: How to get the latest Objectid from MongoDB collection? I'd like to store the newest Objectid in the database if there is already one with the same name, but I don't know how to get the newest value in the list. Here is an example: [{name: 'bla'}, {name: 'flip'}, {name: 'bla'}] I'd like to make sure that the value with name 'flip' is stored, as it is the latest one. What would be the best way of doing this? A: You can use toArray for this. MongoDB emits a BSON Array for a BSONObject, and the latest element of an Array is the only element which has an index of -1. db.collection.findOne({}, {name: 1}, {name: -1}).value.name It is used to get the last element of the array, but for your case to get the last element of a sub-document you can change the path of the first $sort operator to a -1 indexPath: db.collection.aggregate([{ $sort: { name: 1 } }, { $sort: { name: -1 } }, { $sort: { name: -1 } }, { $project: { name: 1,
