Serum cholesterol level was determined in 15 chronic hemodialysis patients and 15 healthy controls, using the Friedewald formula. In ten patients and nine controls, the total cholesterol level was within normal limits. The mean cholesterol level was significantly increased in the hemodialysis patients, while triglyceride and phospholipid levels were unaffected by the treatment. These results are consistent with previous reports that also showed a hypercholesterolemic effect of this therapy. The marked hypercholesterolemia was not due to an impaired lipid utilization by a decrease in the efficiency of the membrane transport mechanisms. The finding of elevated cholesterol level associated with hemodialysis also implies a factor other than uremia in the pathogenesis of the hypercholesterolemia.if (typeof process!=="undefined" && process.env.DOMAIN) { test("domains", function()

.Q: "is the same or different" or "are the same or different"? Can we use two adjectives with "is or are" in a sentence like this? "Celsius is the same or different from Fahrenheit". Is it grammatically correct? A: No it's not correct. The order is case in the verb (is or are) then the adjective. Celsius is the same or different from Fahrenheit.

Fahrenheit is the same or different from Celsius.

Both examples are correct. For example, don't say: Fahrenheit and Celsius are the same or different. Fahrenheit and Celsius are the same or different. 07 Oct 2018 06 Oct 2018 05 Oct
