And now I do. eBay requires you to change your account passwords by simply logging into your My eBayer account. If your account has a bank account associated with it, you have to go through the eBayer account management process to change your password. This is a bit of a change since eBay relied on you to remember to change your password after your password was compromised at another site. If you have a Bank of America account connected to your eBayer account, you can avoid the need to change your
